New Fire Chief for the St. George Fire Department

16 August 2018

ST. GEORGE - At Monday night's Meeting of Council, it was unanimously approved by Council that Justin Johnston would officially assume the role of Acting Fire Chief for the St. George Fire Department.

Justin Johnston was previously Deputy Chief for the voluntary fire service and assumes the role which was vacated with the departure of his predecessor Sean Morton. Morton, who resigned in July, has accepted a position as full-time Fire Chief with the St. Stephen Fire Department (Town of St. Stephen). Morton will remain on the St. George Fire Department as Acting Deputy Fire Chief.

Both leadership roles on the fire department are voluntary positions.

"Justin is well thought of by his peers as well as members of surrounding fire departments" said Jason Gaudet, CAO for the Town of St. George. "I look forward in working with him."

Johnston will be evaluated in 3 months by the Town Manager with input from the members of Fire Department.
